

HUNGRY MIND REVIEW

PREVIEW

for the Spring 1993 Issue

Dear Independent Bookseller,

Here is a list of the books that are going to be reviewed and advertised in the Spring 1993 issue of the Hungry Mind Review -- Justice and the Body. In this -- our twenty-fifth issue -- we are pleased to feature a wide-range of reviews and essays as well as a new column, Crossing the Alley, which takes a look at books, publishing, and life. We are also running our first annual HMR Reader's Survey that we promise will be like no other survey.

Justice and the Body features over 250 Winter and Spring books advertised by publishers ranging from Zephyr to Rutgers University Press to Pantheon to HBJ. These are the books your patrons will be reading about in a few weeks when they see our next issue, so we encourage you to order any titles that you don't have in stock. If you have trouble finding a title, call the appropriate sales rep or HMR at (612) 699-2610.

News From The Mind

HMR turns eight this year. We now distribute 40,000 copies per issue in 550 independents around the country and still paste the magazine up the old-fashion way. Nine of us work out of a small house with an upstairs and downstairs computer and a rope swing in the back yard.

The HMR Children's Book Supplement will appear in our May and November issues. The Second Annual CBS Books of Distinction will be featured in May.

Minnesota Public Radio recently used subscriptions to HMR as premiums for a membership drive — we picked up over 1,500 new, independent readers. In the competition that goes on between premiums, we placed somewhere behind a compact disc of the Brandenburg Concertos and somewhere in front of tropical luggage tags.

We'd like to know more about the books and people that move through your store. If you can, sign us up to receive your newsletter: HMR 1648 Grand Avenue St. Paul, MN 55105

Check out the user-friendly book-seller questionnaire on the back of this flyer. We'd like to hear from you.
